PIONEER WASHER.
JAMES BRUSIE,
AGENT FOR OREGON AND WASHINGTON TERRITORY

THIS CELEBRATED WASHING MACHINE IS now for the first time introduced to the Oregon public. It is simple in its construction, durable in its quality and a cause of its action. Washing the dirtiest clothes perfectly clean in from five to ten minutes with but slight labor, and lasting with proper care, for ten years. The wear and tear of clothing in washing by this machine is vastly less than by any other known process of washing. It is easily worked by one person.

This Machine captured the Special Premium at the California State Fair, and all that have used it pronounce it an invaluable adjunct to all housekeepers and families and washing men and washing women.

It has been extensively introduced throughout the State of California, and receives the universal commendation of all who have used it.

The undersigned is now in the city of Portland where he can be seen at Mr. O. Kilborn's Store, corner of Front and Yamhill Sts., but while in Portland is prepared to furnish the Machine to purchasers and also to sell and dispose of County Rights for the sale of it as soon as desired.

TO THE PAPERS TO THIS OREGONIAN.

DATES TO JULY 13.

Congressional

WASHINGTON July 10.—The Senate refused to consider Sumner's motion to rescind the resolution adopted on Friday precluding all business not pertaining to reconstruction.

The reconstruction bill was taken up. Howard reviewed the arguments of the Attorney General saying that the President's authority was supreme to reinstate former rebels by Wilson's act in not offered yesterday and adopted allowing colonels lers to appoint civilians to offi

Drake offered an amendment defining the intent of both presented in the supplementary act.

A long debate ensued. Trumbull declaring that the amendment did not accomplish anything, but made an awkward section. The amendment was modified and finally adopted.

Howe moved an amendment providing that merely voting for an ordinance of secession does not disqualify a person not otherwise having held the office of Justice of the Peace or trustee of any public institution. Howard also said Schofield had made a rule which renders the above necessary as regards those who had voted for the secession ordinance at the popular election.

Sumner characterized the amendment a perfect Noah's Ark, in which all rebels were to be saved.

Howard denied such intention for the amendment, and merely wished the Senate to say whether a vote for secession was an act of treason.

The amendment was here made of the death of Chas. Dennison a member of the House of Representatives from Pennsylvania.

Buckalew and Cameron delivered eulogies and the customary resolutions were passed when the Senate adjourned.

In the House, on the motion of Dawes, the time for taking testimony in the Kentucky election case was extended to December 1st.

Schenck, under a suspension of the rules, introduced a preamble and resolution reciting that there had been no thorough investigation of the treatment of Union prisoners; that the people think such an investigation should be made resolving that a select committee be appointed to make such an investigation and report to the House, with power to send for persons, papers, etc.

After considerable desultory discussion, the resolutions were adopted.

Several parties were granted the privilege to record their names in the passage of the Reconstruction Bill.

Julian introduced a bill to extend the present Homestead Act to Alabama, Mississippi and Florida.

Robinson offered a resolution directing the Committee on Foreign Affairs to report immediately whether any American citizens have been arrested, tried and convicted in England or Ireland for words spoken or acts done in the United States. In support of the resolution he had read a statement of S. J. Meary. He trusted there was spirit enough in the nation and weight of metal enough in the Army and Navy to take Meary out of prison, even if it became necessary to tread down the nation which held him.

Wood said from personal observation in Ireland, having traveled in that country, he was satisfied if the security of every American citizen in the country. He asked Robinson to allow the resolution to apply also to Colonel Nagles, now a prisoner.

Robinson assented.

Stevens expressed the hope that he would not adopt the principle here of trying the judgments of British Courts. He would be unwilling to allow any other nation to decide on the action of any American Court against a rebel who might be a native of that country, but as this was simply a resolution of reference, he could see no objection to the resolution being adopted.

Washburn offered a resolution, declaring that taxation should be in proportion to property, and asserting that the right to tax Government Bonds should be given in future systems for funding bonds.

The resolution was referred.

Barnes asked leave to offer a joint resolution, reducing the tax on spirits to 75 cents per gallon.

Objection was made.

Schenck introduced a bill granting honorable discharges to soldiers classed as deserters.

Several amendments were offered which were ordered printed. The consideration of the bill was fixed for tomorrow.

Wilson said that the Judiciary Committee was directed at the last session to make a report this session on the impeachment question.

The committee was not prepared now to submit a report, but will at any session which may be held on or after the 10th of October next. He had also been requested to state the position occupied by the Committee on this question. Five members were of the same opinion.

WASHINGTON, July 11.—In the Senate, Buckalew offered an amendment providing that in the election of Congressmen from the rebel States, each elector be entitled to the same number of votes as there are Congressmen apportioned to the State, and that he may give one vote to each separate member of cumulate votes, and bestow them at discretion upon one or more candidates in number than the whole number of representatives to be chosen.

Trumbull raised the point of order that the amendment was out of order. It was so decided after debate.

Sumner made a brief speech, in which he said he hoped soon to welcome colored Senators to this floor. He offered an addition to section requiring the establishment of schools in the rebel States, with no distinction of color.

The Senate refused to receive the amendment.

Sumner offered an amendment providing that there shall be no distinction of color in the appointment of registers.

Brunner offered an amendment providing that there shall be no elections in the rebel States till their State Constitutions are approved by Congress.

The amendment was decided out of order.

Sumner offered several other amendments which were rejected.

Some slight amendments were made and accepted.

The bill finally passed by a vote of 32 to 6.

The Senate then adjourned.

In the House, petitions from Maryland numerously signed, asking Congress to abolish all distinction on account of color throughout the United States, were referred to the Judiciary Committee.

The House resumed the consideration of Boutwell's resolution, providing for an adjournment to Oct 1.

Pike thought Congress should not enter upon the game of Presidential making. He believed that the desire to precipitate a movement in favor of one man or another underlies this intense feeling on the question of impeachment.

Lawrence repudiated the charge of the gentleman from Maine, that the proposition for impeachment was simply a scheme for President making.

Boutwell spoke in favor of early action on impeachment.

Pike desired to offer an amendment to adjourn to November 13th.

Boutwell declared that he could not permit the amendment.

Pike said it seemed to him, after having dissected the President, politically, the only question now was whether they should instantly impeach.

Finally the House refused to second the previous question. Pike's amendment was adopted, and the resolution was passed for adjournment to November 13th.

A bill passed relieving from the penalties of desertion soldiers and sailors leaving their commands after the surrender of Lee and Johnson.

Stevens offered a resolution desiring the Judiciary Committee to report this session their evidence relative to impeachment. He moved the previous question, but the House refused to second the demand.

Wilson moved as a substitute that the committee have authority to print the testimony in time for the first day of the next session.

Stevens said that after the vote just taken, he was willing to leave the matter. Therefore he moved to lay the whole matter on the table.

This was regarded as quite effectually settling the subject at least for the present. After disposing of some miscellaneous business, the House took a recess until evening. In the night session the House received the Senate bill refusing to concur, and called for a committee of conference. A journal.

WASHINGTON July 12.—In the House Julian asked leave to offer a resolution directing the Reconstruction Committee to report a bill declaring the forfeiture of all lands granted to rebel States for railroad purposes which grants expired by limitation.

Wood objected.

Julian moved to suspend the rules and said five million acres of the best land in the South were tied up in the hands of rebel corporations, which should be given to the poor whites and blacks for homesteads.

Chandler, a member of the select committee on the Southern Railroad said the relations of those roads to the Government was under investigation. The action contemplated by the resolution was premature.

The rules were suspended and the resolution adopted being modified so as to confine its operation to Mississippi, Alabama, Florida and Louisiana. Referred to the Committee on Southern Railroads.

Butler desired to offer an elaborate preamble and resolutions giving district commanders power to issue coupon bonds to the amount of four millions at 7 3-10 per cent for repairs of levees in Louisiana, the assumption of their debt to be a condition precedent to the admission of the State.

Objection was made, and the House refused to suspend the rules.

Schenck said that such crimes had not been proved against President Johnson and would call for an impeachment. Other members occupied different positions, believing that sufficient time has been elapsed to call for the immediate arraignment of the President, and that is all I was directed to state. I believe the statement covers all information which need be given.

Boutwell moved to adjourn until the 10th of next October.

An animated debate ensued which was closed by the death of Charles Donahon, whereupon the House adjourned.

Stone reported back the Senate the Reconstruction bill with several amendments. The first section declares the meaning of the former act to be that the governments then existing in the Southern States were valid and if continued, must be subject in all respects to military authority.

Among the new sections reported is one directing officers of registration to pay no regard to the decisions or directions of the Attorney General or any officer of the Government except as directed by Congress.

A long debate ensued, when Stevens moved the previous question.

The substitute for the first section was adopted. The other amendments quoted were modified so that no district court under or officer of registration should be bound in action by any opinion of any civil officer of the Government. All other amendments were agreed to, and the bill passed as amended.

The House then adjourned.

In the Senate Chandler called up the resolution regarding Mexican affairs and made a speech justifying the execution of Maximilian. He hoped Congress would not adjourn without an expression of sympathy and also extend aid if necessary to Mexico. If any European powers determine to fight Mexico they must fight the United States also.

Fowler and Ross spoke in favor of the resolution. The latter regarded Mexico as ultimately destined to belong to this country. He eulogized Juarez as a great and good man. An enlightened world would say amen to the fate of Maximilian. He had no sympathy for an imported monarch who came to subjugate not invigorate, the country. It was advisable to exercise a fraternal policy towards Mexico, and extend substantial aid if necessary.

Howard justified the action of the court martial which tried Maximilian and denounced the decree of October 18th which as the murderous decree of a temporarily successful highwayman. Maximilian met a deserved fate.

Yates moved that further consideration of the subject be postponed as it deserved more consideration.

Wilson offered a resolution authorizing the Secretary of War to raise four regiments of volunteers for frontier service appropriating $648,000 to pay the troops now called out. Ordered printed.

Hoar offered a joint resolution for the suppression of Indian difficulties. Ordered printed.

Fuller offered a resolution directing the Judiciary Committee to report a bill for the enforcement of the provision of the Constitution guaranteeing a republican form of government. There being objection made, it was laid over.

The Senate went into executive session, and then adjourned.

WASHINGTON, July 12.—The Senate, at its evening session took no action on the House Reconstruction Bill, which was announced.

Trumbull and Hendricks were appointed a committee of conference.

Wilson desired to introduce a bill appropriating $1,500,000 for carrying out the Reconstruction Bill. Objection made.

Sumner called up his Universal Suffrage Bill, which was voted out of order.

Attempts were made to call up several House bills, but objection was made and the Senate adjourned.

In the House, at its evening session the Secretary of War was directed to inform the House what additional appropriation will be necessary to carry out the Reconstruction Bill.

A bill passed, giving the widow and minor children of any soldier who died after honorable discharge, additional bounty.

The Paymaster General, in response to a resolution of inquiry, stated that no further legislation is necessary to facilitate the payment of additional bounties.

Washington News

WASHINGTON, July 12.—The Surratt trial is still continued. An effort is still being made with some success, to break the testimony of the witness against him. The evidence is very garrulous and not worth reporting.

The Chronicle says the reciprocity treaty just negotiated with the Sandwich Islands secures important advantages for the United States over other nations. It will be sent to the Senate next session. The treaty goes into effect on the tenth day from the date of ratification being exchanged by competent authority. It is believed that this is the first step towards the acquisition of those Islands.

NEW YORK, July 12.—Among the applicants for the position of Minister to Mexico are John Nugent and McMahon, formerly Postal Agent at San Francisco. Nugent is strongly supported and his chances are good.

The Herald's special says the President will veto the Reconstruction Bill, but it will pass nevertheless.

It is now supposed Congress will adjourn by Tuesday, although the Mexican question which the northwest members seem determined to push, may detain it longer.

The Tribune's Washington special says the Judiciary Committee is investigating the charges of disloyalty against Thomas of Maryland who claims a seat in the Senate.

It seems to be definitely settled that the President will not revoke any order to commanders in the South to remove civilians.

The Herald's Washington special says J. B. Weller is going to the Pacific to organize an expedition to Mexico.

Perley, of the Boston Journal, says the treaty with the Sandwich Islands insures the Pacific States sugar, molasses, coffee, meat, vegetables and other articles of domestic produce at lower rates.

The World's special says there will be no duty on exports.

The Colt's Arms Manufacturing Company have received an order from the Russian Government for one hundred thousand Berdan rifles.

NEW YORK, July 12.—The agent of Santa Anna is in close communication with several Senators, and it is understood that Kennedy Johnson is urging the case of the abduction of Santa Anna on the attention of the State Department.

The receipts of Customs for the year 1866 was $136,750 1[illegible] for 1866, $184,407,631.

The Secretary of War communicated a mass of papers relative to the enforcement of the reconstruction act, in which is a letter from Grant to Ord, expressing the opinion that a Board of Registry ought not to register any man who refuses the required oath, when they know he committed perjury.

Grant thinks they should not allow unauthorized persons to register, and should examine witnesses, under oath, in relation to the qualifications of applicants. The law, however, makes the District Commanders their own interpreters of their powers and duties, and neither Grant nor the Attorney General can, if more than give their own opinions. They cannot enforce their views against the judgment of those who are made responsible for the faithful execution of the law.

Forgiveness of Friends.

A Democratic paper of Oregon is exceedingly anxious to show that it possesses charity sufficient to cover all the manifold errors and sins of secession and rebellion Hear it speak.

In judging our late enemies of the South let us consider what would have been our conduct in the same circumstances in which they were placed How many of us would not have been secessionists and taken up arms against the Government had we been surrounded by the same influences? Are we not men of like passions with them? How dare we judge them in hatred and uncharitableness and refuse them forgiveness for acts which we only avoided by our associations?

Now this manifestation of charity from such a source is altogether superfluous. There is not a particle of merit in this pretended act of forgiveness, because the person who makes so ostentatious a display of charitable feeling never quarreled with those whom he now professes to forgive. His party never had any "enemies" in the South, except the few loyal men of that section who stood up against the rebel Confederacy. What hypocrisy, then, for the representatives of this party to lay claim to so much charity and to parade this spurious stuff as evidence that they are less vindictive than other men. Of course Democrats can forgive the Southern rebels. Accomplices in wrong can easily forgive one another.

This apostle of forgiveness demands to know "how many of us (Democrats) would not have been secessionists and taken up arms against the Government had we been surrounded by the same influences?" Few, and perhaps none, is the answer which candor compels. We shall not doubt for a moment the confession of the rebel proclivities of the Democracy which is implied in this question. Though surrounded by loyal influences during the rebellion a large share of that party were secessionists and threatened continually "to take up arms against the Government." Not a few of them actually did so,—"Col." John Lane, of Oregon, and hundreds of others who did not "obey their States" among the number. Therefore as the Democracy were with difficulty restrained from revolt by the presence of the overwhelming forces of loyalty, nobody can doubt what they would have done had they been surrounded by the influences which swept the South into rebellion.

Further, this individual in the superabundance of his charity for rebels, anxiously inquires whether "we" (Democrats again) "are not men of like passions with them?" Certainly. Nobody doubts it. Everybody grants it. Of like principles as well as passions. Alike in every respect except in opportunity and courage to rebel. This confession is candid, but it reveals nothing new. The writer should have added that his party promised to join the South but was held in check by fear, and that, though it is eager to "forgive" its Southern friends, they will not grant it their forgiveness for its falseness and cowardice in failing them.

The Democratic party forgives the rebellion! Of course it does. And to make its hypocrisy complete it boasts of its charity in doing so. This indeed is the sort of charity that vaunts itself. It is exceedingly like sounding brass. And if anything more "brassy" than this act of pretended forgiveness was ever seen, such a phenomenon must have appeared in some part of the country where the Copperhead has more of this material in his composition than he has in Oregon.

Extension of Surveys

For some time there has been an earnest demand for an extension of Government surveys in several parts of the State The Surveyor General has been restricted in his operations through a want of sufficient appropriations by Congress to [illegible] a considerable time greatly needed. [illegible] years new settlements have [illegible] localities throughout the [illegible] us to the older settlements [illegible] a distance from any portion of the [illegible] Settlers are going in [illegible] the unsurveyed lands and es[illegible] making farms without much [illegible] of the land they [illegible] be seed that scores thousands of [illegible] and [illegible] in Oregon within [illegible] years upon this description of [illegible] being gradually crowded [illegible] the Willamette and other principal [illegible] have new places, and very [illegible] country which have hitherto [illegible] are rapidly filling up with in[illegible] people. We learn that an effort will be made to have the surveys extended as soon as possible to these lands. At Tillamook and several other places on the coast there is need of further surveys, and a like need exists in numerous localities for bordering on the Willamette valley There are new lands on Mary's river, the Santiam and the Nehalem which may be mentioned as among those which it is proposed to survey. The Surveyor General, as we are informed, purposes to use his efforts to have this work performed without delay. In no State or Territory is a general extension of surveys more needed than in Oregon.

PALOUSE FALLS.—A writer in the Walla Walla Statesman furnishes a picturesque description of the falls of the Palouse river, to which he recently made a visit. The falls are fifty-five miles from Walla Walla. Their exact hight is, not known, owing to the difficulty of making an actual measurement. For miles above and below the falls the river is confined to a narrow canyon several hundred feet in depth. Approaching the falls the chasm makes a sudden turn to the west, when the whole volume of water is precipitated in a single sheet into a basin below. The hight of the fall is estimated at 190 feet. It is possible to reach the foot of the fall by going some distance down the river, descending into the chasm and clambering over the rocks up the stream. The basin below the fall is about 500 feet across, and nearly circular in form. From the description given of this fall we suppose it to be very similar to that on the Snoqualmie river, a stream which enters Puget Sound opposite Whidby's Island. The fall on the Snoqualmie is however at least one hundred feet higher than that on the Palouse. The streams are about equal in size. Washington Territory can therefore boast of two falls which in point of grandeur can hardly be surpassed by any in the world.

Numerous Copperhead editors have been grievously distressed of late with General Sheridan In their frantic ululations they denounce him without stint, pronounce him guilty of "insolent subordination to his superior officer"—the President,—and declare that he ought to be "cashiered and dismissed from the service." It may do these distressed individuals good to read General Grant's vindication of Sheridan, published in the despatches to day, and his order to the district commanders to enforce their own construction of the military bill, unless otherwise ordered.

The State Journal says The fruit and crops in this county and the south-eastern part of Linn promises to be much better than was anticipated a few weeks since The grain fields between this place and Peoria, on both sides of the river, for the most part, are looking finely and will profit to the owners Fruit trees of all kinds are in a flourishing condition and there seems no doubts as to a heavy yield this season Hay has been put up in large quantities The past few days will demonstrate the fact that the croakers have been sadly mistaken in their predictions

Mrs Lincoln is going to Racine, Wisconsin Her furniture was sold at auction in Chicago and brought good prices.

STATE ITEMS

The State Journal comes out in a new dress and presents a very neat creditable appearance

The M E Church South have erected a church edifice at Roseburg which will be dedicated on the 3d of August

The steamers on the Upper Willamette still continue to bring down considerable freights of wool, flour and other produce

The Cumberland Presbyterians are holding a series of revival meetings at Pugeno. Services are held every day and evening.

The organ of the Good Templars, the Corvallis Gazette, rejoices that the hundredth Lodge in this jurisdiction has been organized

A camp meeting was held at Perrin Lane county, which closed last Wednesday after a session of ten days A Pugene paper says much good was unquestionably done

The editor of the Roseburg Ensign speaks of some interesting specimens of quartz which he has seen from the southern part of Douglas county including auriferous quartz silver ore and some very rich copper ore The latter in fact is almost or quite pure and if it is a fair sample of a well defined lodge, it places beyond cavil the mineral wealth of that section of our country The assay of the quartz proved that it was rich enough to leave a handsome margin of profit over the working expenses The discoverer has also an extensive lime bed fully developed, and they are now burning lime rock and find it the best quality

Jackson county boasts of a sulphur spring which the Sentinel thinks will sometime become a fashionable watering place, and of which it speaks as follows This spring gushes out of the mountain to the west of Sam's Valley, about eight miles from Rock Point and twenty from Jacksonville The spring comes out of the mountain side but a short distance from the base, affords a stream of water which Mr L. thinks would fill about ½ inch pipe The hill is beautifully terraced and the surrounding scenery is magnificent The water is very strongly impregnated with sulphur yet very pleasant to drink This property is not owned by any one yet, it being on Government land

The following description of a gunshot wound is given by an Oregon physician The patient is still a resident of Lane County: "The projectile passed into the right side of the body, posteriorly at a point about midway between the body of the fifth dorsal vertibræ and the internal, or vertebral border of the right scapula, on a plane about an inch above its inferior angle and entering the thoracic cavity through the fifth intercostal space chipping the upper border of the sixth rib The ball passed in a direction forward, downward and a little outward, wounding in its course the skin, superficial and deep fascia, the trapezius, rhomboideus major and intercostal muscles, upper border the sixth rib, the right pleura or lung; the projectile lodging within the thoracic cavity, and, in my opinion, in close proximity to its anterior wall" Whether the man was injured or not, we are not informed

OWYHEE MINING ITEMS.

From the Avalanche of the 6th inst, we obtain the following items.

The Silver Cord mine looks very encouraging, and the ore is looking richer. There is a fine prospect ahead for the Cosmos Company, judging from what can be seen in and about the mine—and it's hard to judge of what can't be seen,

The Woodstock mine is looking very well, and yielding rich ore from a lodge of fourteen inches in width; the force of laborers will be increased as soon as the shaft is put down a few feet farther, and stopes started each way.

The North Star, lying south of the Oro Fino, is flattering to the owners. We saw some very rich gold ore there last week, and shall be much mistaken if a fair sized and well defined vein is not soon developed. In fact, in the bottom of the works as now to be seen, the vein is nearly solid, and two feet wide

James McCready and others are driving a tunnel to strike an extension north on the North Star. If not mistaken in its course and dip, they will reach the vein at a distance of eighty feet, and most of the work is already done.

The Poorman Extension Company is driving work at three places on the claim, and we hear that the Mississippi is about to receive some attention.

Of course the Poorman and Oro Fino mines are turning out pay rock as usual.

Mining on the Whisky ledge will be resumed shortly, and made a constant thing. Some thirteen tons just worked in the Miner mill gave a very large yield of clean amalgam. [Since the above was put in type we were shown the assay certificate of King, Webb & Co., of the bullion, and the assayed value is $1,519 48.

The Potosi, just back of town, is soon to be added to the list of paying mines. We think there is as rich an average lot of ore on the yard as can be shown anywhere

Fulton Height and others are opening a rich gold lodge on Florida Mountain, not far above the Lincoln Mill.

The Morning Star mine is too good to be let alone and hardly will be much longer.

The Silver Monarch boys are persevering downwards on their vein and we hear that all the surrounding indications are good. Certainly men who expend their own means and labor, are not doing so for the fun of the thing.

The Noonday and Eureka ledges, or part of them, were bought last year by the Owyhee Mining Company and it is fair to presume that they will be put into a producing condition.

A ledge was discovered last July, about one mile due south of the Poorman, and named the Baxter. But little work was done until recently, when Mr. David S Meeks took one half interest in it for which he agreed to sink a shaft one hundred feet. He is now down forty feet on a ledge in many respects like the Poorman. It is now yielding ruby and sheet silver and polybasite, and also a fine black sulphuretted ore. The ledge is about fourteen inches on the top, and is what is termed a blind ledge. The vein is soft and no blasting required. The same species of grainless tallow-earth is found in it as in the Poorman, and the vein matter has quite a resemblance. There is no mistake about the rich stuff coming out of the Baxter, as we have seen it and have the testimony of several who have made personal examinations. The ledge is already attracting much notice, and Mr. Meeks is bound to put down the shaft and timber it up safely and commence making a mine in due form

FROM ARIZONA.

From the Prescott Miner, of June 15th, we glean the following:

The general election on Wednesday the 5th instant, like all previous elections in Arizona, was conducted in a quiet and orderly manner. In Yavapai county the whole Democratic ticket, with the exception of coroner, was elected by a majority averaging from 50 to 150. In Mahon, Yuma, Pimo and Pia-ute counties no party line was drawn. The people of Arizona have come to the conclusion that it don't pay to wrangle over political issues in which they have no very direct concern.

We regret to announce the death by violence, of our old and widely known pioneer, William R Murray, which occurred at the Quarts Rock Saloon, in this town on Thursday afternoon, the 13th inst, at six o'clock, as follows. Murray and several friends were playing cards, when a young man named George Crafts made some interference. Murray objected, but crafts persisted, when Murray threw the cards in his face Craft at once drew his pistol, when Murray, who was not armed, seized a revolver from the belt of a person standing by, and evidently meant, from his motions, to deal Crafts a blow with it. It went off, but the ball did not hit Crafts, who then began to fire, Murray discharged his pistol the second time, but the barrel burst. Crafts fired three times, two shots piercing Murray in the breast, near the heart, killing him instantly. Crafts was immediately arrested and lodged in the guard house at Fort Whipple.

Lieutenant Owen, who went out after the Indians who stole Miller's cattle from the sawmill, near Prescott, on the 31st ultimo, remained out ten days, but saw none of the red thieves On Sunday, June 2d, L Q Dickason, of Leonora Valley, in passing Maple Shades, saw very fresh signs of a band of Indians running off with cattle, and hurrying to Osborn Valley raised a party to go in pursuit. Two of the party, G P Bridges and W V Adams, of Prescott, having had their animals stolen by Indians on the previous night, wearied after going a few miles and started to return. Dickason and others pushed on, and were out two days, but the Indians slipped them. On returning home, as Bridges and Adams had not been heard from, the party went out in search of them, and found the bodies horribly mangled near where they had separated on Sunday The unfortunate men had evidently made a desperate fight for their lives, but were overpowered by numbers

In La Paz, some days since, a saloon keeper inveigled Irataba's favorite squaw into his saloon, gave her liquor and violated her person, where upon the big chief very naturally and very properly went after him. They came to blows and Irataba was considerably injured. He appealed to Superintendent Dent, who had the white man arrested, but he was soon discharged, and then attacked Irataba again, hitting him over the head with a revolver The matter ended by Irataba leaving town with most of his followers

The Governor, several weeks since, received a petition from Pimo county, with many signatures, requesting him to convene the Fourth Legislature, which is to meet on the 4th of September next at Tucson. The Governor replied, giving his reasons for declining to accede to the request

The Sterling, Umpqua and Big Bull mills are again in operation, with facilities for working sulphurets

Several shooting affrays, resulting in a loss of life, have lately occurred at Tucson but we have been unable to learn the names of the parties involved, save that one Gallaghor was killed, and that it is alleged Frank Hodges shot some one

The surplus of the wheat harvest in Georgia, it is estimated, will reach 10,000,000 bushels

[DESPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

DATES TO JULY 13.

LAST NIGHT'S DISPATCHES

Congressional.

WASHINGTON, July 13.—In the Senate the Secretary of the Interior sent a communication in reply not to a resolution calling for information concerning Indian affairs, which was ordered printed The Senate then had a short executive session

A message from the House announced its action on the report of the Conference Committee Mr Trumbull explained that the bill was substantially as passed by the Senate no new features being incorporated

Mr Sumner said that Congress had not been radical enough The civil governments ought to have been swept away After debate the report of the Committee of Conference was agreed to—31 ayes to 6 nays—Mr Johnson of Maryland voting in the affirmative

Mr Sumner gave notice that he would move a suspension of the rules in order that he might call up his Universal Suffrage bill

The House bill making an appropriation for the execution of the Reconstruction bill was ordered printed

Mr Thayer introduced a bill for the permanent location of all Indian tribes in the territory between the Missouri river and the Rocky Mountains The Senate then adjourned

In the House Mr Washburne of Wisconsin introduced a bill to extend the provision of the Homestead bill to any public lands within the reserved limits of any railroad grant

The committee on the treatment of Union prisoners was authorized to sit at such places and take testimony in such matters as it deemed proper.

Mr. Mungen desired to see to offer a resolution of inquiry about the treatment of rebel prisoners; also as to the facts connected with the exchange of prisoners, and why a speedy exchange had not been effected

Mr Judd regarded the resolution as a reflection upon the loyal people of the North Mr. Mungen disclaimed any such intention It had been asserted that a high officer of the government had declared he would not exchange healthy men for skeletons, and the facts ought to be investigated

Mr. Butler said that he and all connected with the exchange of prisoners in 1864, would court the fullest investigation He advocated the adoption of the resolution The House refused to suspend the rules and to receive the resolution.

The question was revived upon accepting the memorial of the Arkansas Legislature, which was under debate at the last evening session, asking an appropriation for repairs to the levee The memorial was received by 90 to 44, and referred to the Committee on Appropriations

Several communications from the Secretary of the Interior were presented and ordered printed

Washburne, of Wisconsin, desired to offer a resolution expressing the belief of the House that the rebel prisoners had been always treated with kindness and humanity, and that the House could entertain no resolution implying the contrary unless accompanied by responsible charges The rules were suspended and the resolution was adopted by 108 to 16

Mr Stevens presented the report of the conference Committee on the Reconstruction Bill, which was agreed to The Reconstruction Bill, as passed, is as follows

Sec 1 Declares it to be the true intent of the Act of March 2d, 1867, that the civil governments of the rebel States, Tennessee excepted, are not legal and if continued should be subject to military commanders and the paramount authority of Congress.

Sec 2 The commanders shall have authority subject to the approval of the General of the army, to remove or suspend any civil or military officer, and also have authority to detail any competent officer or soldier, or appoint any other person to perform the duties of the officer so removed, subject to the disapproval of the General of the army

Sec. 3. The general of the army is entrusted with the power of removal and suspension of appointment granted in the preceding section.

Sec. 4 Confirms the removals and appointments already made, provided that persons heretofore or hereafter appointed to exercise the functions of any civil office may be removed by the district commander or general of the army It is the duty of the district commander to remove from office all disloyal persons, or those who hinder reconstruction.

Sec 5 The test oath prescribed in the act of March 2d shall not be conclusive as to the right of register, but the Board shall examine witnesses touching the qualifications of applicants, and in case of a refusal to register any applicant, the Board shall forward its reasons therefor to the district commanders

Sec 6. Declares the act to apply to all members of any State Legislature or persons holding executive or judicial office in any state, whether he has taken the oath to support the Constitution or not, whether holding office at the commencement of rebellion or before, who afterwards engaged in the rebellion or gave aid and comfort to the enemies of the Government. The words "executive or judicial" include all officers created by law for the administration of any general law.

Sec 7 Authorizes the districts commanders to extend the time of registration to October 1st. Boards must revise registration lists five days previous to any election, and strike from the lists the names of all persons not entitled to registration, and add the names of all persons qualified No person shall be entitled to registry by reason of an executive pardon or amnesty.

Sec 8 Members of the Board of Registry and all persons appointed to office are required to take the regular oath of office.

Sec 9 Boards of Registration and District Commanders are not bound by the opinion of any civil officer of the government.

Sec 10 Commanders are authorized to remove members of boards of Registration and appoint others.

Sec. 11 All provisions of all reconstruction acts must be construed liberally, to the end that all the intent thereof shall be perfectly carried out.

Mexico and the Sandwich Islands.

NEW YORK, July 13 —Ex Governor Weller in his Fourth of July New Orleans speech said "If I had my way I would cruelly cut the Mexican nationality and proceed to administer upon her effects"

The New York Times says Something like this seems to be the ground now assumed by those who have had the greatest opportunities of comprehending the condition of Mexico

The Springfield Republican says: If the truth were known we suspect it would appear that our naval authorities in the Pacific have been for some months under secret instructions, in case of the death of the present King of the Sandwich Islands, to seize the Islands in the name of the United States.

Liability of Telegraph Companies.

DETROIT, July 13 —The State Supreme Court has decided that the telegraph companies are not responsible for errors in the transmission of messages unless the terms of the printed blanks are complied with respecting repeated messages, insurance, etc. They are not regarded as common carriers.

The Surratt Trial.

WASHINGTON, July 13.—In the Surratt trial several witnesses testified that Surratt was not in Washington on the day of the assassination. The hotel register at Canandaigua was offered as evidence that Surratt arrived there from Elmira, April 16th. The prosecution objected and the court reserved its decision until Monday.

The St. Louis Fire.

ST. LOUIS, July 13 —The theatre Comique, which burned this morning, was valued at $75,000—insured for $45,000 Total loss, $110,000.

LONDON, July 12 —The Sultan was received at Dover by the Prince of Wales, acting for the Queen, and with the Sovereign of Egypt, was escorted to London, where they met an unusually brilliant reception. The railroad station was richly decorated, the streets spanned by festoons of flowers. The entire route of procession was guarded by unbroken lines of troops A dense mass of spectators was along the streets, who shouted welcome and gave other marks of enthusiasm. The Sultan will occupy a royal residence.

PARIS, July 12 —The Federal Government has decided not to send a minister to Washington.

London reports from Vienna say that serious disturbances have broken out at Galacio and Austrian troops sent to quell them have been repulsed by rioters It is believed that the disturbance was excited by Roman emissaries

OUR SAN FRANCISCO DISPATCH.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 14 —The steamship America, for San Juan, sails to-morrow morning She carries a fair load of passengers

It is reported in the best informed political circles that the American King newspaper has been disposed to Gen. A M Winn and J R Hardenburg, and will be run on a Democratic organ and workingman's advocate The change of ownership is made, or will be consummated soon

Frank W Gross, for a long time an attaché of the press and for some years local editor of the Bulletin, has retired from the "press gang" He becomes local agent for the Manhattan Life Insurance Co

The captain of the barque Constitution arrived yesterday from Port Gamble and reports having been visited at sea by a boat from the brig Anna Sanderson on the 11th of July The brig was ninety one days out from Sydney and had run short of provisions The captain of the barque supplied their wants

The Blanchi Opera Troupe sail for Portland on the next steamer They propose to give a series of operatic performances at Portland and salem and will probably go to Victoria

A SELFSOUND INSTRUMENT.—We saw, yesterday, at J L Parrish & Co's something not in the way of an organ—a French instrument called the Organ Harmonium—invented by Alphonse Rodolphe It is a very considerable modification of the organ as we have them from the American manufactories It is provided with sixteen stops each of which exercises a distinct and peculiar effect upon the tone The bass stops are the Forte, Jeu Doux (soft, sweet) Basson Clarion Bourdon English Horn, the treble stops are Expression Tremolo, Scotch Bagpipe Flute, Clarionette, Fife Hautbois, Voix Celeste Forte, and Jeux et Full Expression The effect of these stops in changing the tone is most surprising For instance from the flute to Voix Celeste with Full Expression the tone changes from what sounds precisely like a soft flute, to the full grand harmony which we would expect from an Angel choir—what the name imports. The Key Board is manual le and can be adjusted to any key, to any instrument or to the voice of any singer Other changes are no less surprising The instruments are of the most perfect workmanship and of the highest finish, have taken the first medals at all the great European Expositions The prices range from $170, to $600 Persons in want of an instrument should call and see them, for it is impossible to get a correct idea of them, except from personal inspection J L Parrish & Co, are sole agents for the Pacific coast

How to Save Money.—We know of no better way to save money than to recolor garments, and thus make them practically as good as new This can be done by using the celebrated FAMILY DYE COLORS of Howe & Stevens, which are equal to the best French, and ten times as cheap and convenient Sold by Smith & Davis

NITRO-GLYCERINE is casting a regular sweep through the summit of the Sierra Nevada mountains, and KOHN & FISHEL, No 91 Front street, have made and are daily making a regular sweep in the high prices of Clothing, Dry Goods, etc. It makes others blush to know that they cannot compete with KOHN & FISHEL in selling such Nice and Fashionable Clothing at such low figures as they are selling them at VANCOUVER ITEMS.—The following items are from the Vancouver Register of Saturday Col Williamson, U. S. A., will start with a party on or about the 1st of August next on a trip to Mount Hood. He will be accompanied by Medical Director Gliselin, Capt Babbitt, Rev Geo H Atkinson, and other gentlemen, also by an escort of soldiers The Quartermaster will furnish the necessary transportation at the expense of the Government, instructions having been sent from Washington to make this exploration, and ascertain the exact height of Mount Hood, and also to make other scientific researches ——The soldier whom we mentioned last week as having been stabbed by one of his comrades, died from the effect of the wounds on Monday last He was buried on Tuesday, with the customary honors The garrison flag was at half-mast all day, all the men turned out, the coffin was escorted to the grave by a squad of men in command of a non commissioned officer, who fired a salute over his grave. The horse of the deceased was led along in the procession, carrying the arms and equipments of the dead soldier The impressive funeral ceremony was performed by the Post Chaplain Rev J McCarty, D D. Some of the soldiers stationed at this post were paid off this week, in consequence of which most of the saloons have been doing a brisk business One of the officers reports that on yesterday there were about sixty prisoners in the guard house out of a total force of about two hundred and fifty Most of them were confined for indulging in a little too much "hilarity."——Dr. Wall has already commenced the necessary excavations to lay the foundation of a fine two-story brick, 50 by 25 feet in size, to be built on the corner of Main and fourth streets The contract for building has been let to a Mr O'Brien, now residing in Portland. It is to be ready for occupancy before the 15th of October next. Mr Alton Young, we understand, is also about to commence building a large brick brewery, 60 by 35 feet in size, on West Caledonia, adjoining the public square It is to be two stories and a half high Col. Tripp is the contractor. Mr. Eddings has also announced the building of a large stone house 65 by 25 feet, on the corner of Main and Fifth streets We also observe that Mr. Schofield is putting up another dwelling house on his block All these improvements are certain evidence of permanent and substantial prosperity.

MATCH GAME OF BASE BALL.—This is the day appointed for the match game between the Occidental club, of San Francisco, and the Clackamas club, of Oregon City, to be played on the grounds of the Pioneer club of this city The following recapitulation of former games between the Pioneers and the two clubs mentioned above will enable the reader to form something of a comparative estimate of the clubs matched for this afternoon. On the 30th of May, the Occidentals and Pioneers played a game on the grounds of the former, in which the Occidentals made 63 runs and the Pioneers 79, in nine innings; time, three hours and forty five minutes. On the 17th of June the Clackamas club played the Pioneers a match on the grounds of the latter, the former making 30 runs and the latter 75, in nine innings; time, two hours and thirty-seven minutes July 4th, the same clubs played on the grounds of the Clackamas club, resulting in 44 runs for them and 51 for the Pioneers; nine innings; time, two hours and fifty-five minutes. The latter game, as all players know, shows the best contest of all the matches yet played. A great number of runs does not indicate a good game; the reverse, rather, shows sharper playing. Since the game between the Occidentals and the Pioneers, all the clubs have been practicing, and a game now between any two of them would doubtless result in fewer runs and less odds. We predict for to-day a closely contested game.

COUNTY COURT—SHATTUCK, JUDGE.—The proceedings in ... on Saturday were as follows:

... Brakes. J. Allen et. al. Suit in equity, to reform mortgage and correct error in description of lands ... in accordance with prayer of bill of complaint

Reuben Breed vs. W. H. Ish Supplemental answer allowed to be filed, and plaintiff granted 15 days to file reply.

State of Oregon vs. George Bennett, indicted under the name of Thomas Watson; tried for larceny in a dwelling house and having been found guilty, sentenced to imprisonment at hard labor in the Penitentiary of this State for three years.

State vs. Jack Gilman, for larceny in a dwelling house. Sentenced to the Penitentiary at hard labor for one year.

State vs. James Gill. On the suggestion and sworn statement of the District Attorney and Logan and Bull, attorneys for defendant, on account of the absence of witnesses, the prosecution consented to the withdrawal of the plea of not guilty, and imposing the lowest penalty for the crime of petit larceny, of which defendant stood convicted, viz: fined and thereupon sentenced to pay a fine of $25 and costs.

The sheriff was ordered to summon from the body of county twelve jurors to fill up the panel.

State vs. Darrell Brown. The jury having been out from 5 o'clock P. M. until 11 o'clock A. M., this Saturday, were unable to agree and were discharged. Same case set for Monday morning

VISIT FROM AN ARTIST.—Mr. C E. Watkins, a gentleman who has been for some time engaged in taking photographic views of notable places in California, came ... on the Orifiamme and goes up the Columbia this morning for the purpose of taking observations from various points preparatory to photographing Mt Hood In the course of a brief call upon us yesterday, he informed us that he intends to make something of a tour of the seaside and to take views wherever he may find the scenery remarkable. On the summit of two or three of the hills west of this city yesterday, and says that the view from the summit of Robinson Hill is the most variedly picturesque that he ever saw—combining as it does, in one view, the city, many miles of both the Willamette and Columbia rivers, with their confluence and the majestic flow of the Columbia, thence onward, forests, plains, the dark blue range of the Cascades, with every snow peak in full view from Diamond Peak in Southern Oregon, to Mt. Baker, near the British Columbia border. Mr. Watkins will return from the Cascades this evening and enter immediately upon preparations for the prosecution of his work. There are several of his pictures of California scenery on exhibition and for sale in this city Mr Shanahan has some of them framed and hung against the walls of his art gallery, corner of Front and Morrison streets.

GEN. JEFF. C. DAVIS.—This distinguished officer of the U. S army arrived here by the steamer Orifiamme, on Saturday morning, en route to his command in this Department. Though a Brevet Major General in the volunteer service, at the close of the rebellion, his present rank in the regular army is that of Colonel, and his regiment is the 21st Infantry. When the rebellion opened he was in command of a battery at Ft. Sumter and it is stated that he stood within fifteen feet of the spot where the first rebel shell burst within that ill fated fort. As is well known the very beginning of the rebellion, so he was present at the final close—the surrender of Gen. Johnston at Raleigh, North Carolina—having marched through the whole length of Georgia, and continued on the 14th route. Few officers had a more active part, in the great war than he, and few had a more brilliant career. He was brevetted six times for meritorious and gallant service. Since the close of the war, he has been in command of the Department of Kentucky, until recently he was ordered to the Pacific coast. His first service was as a private in the 2d Indiana regiment, in the beginning of the Mexican war. Since then, he has served in some capacity in almost every place in the United States, where the service of soldiers have been required, except on the Pacific coast.

CASES FOR THE RECORDER'S COURT.—Frank O Brown was arrested on Saturday by Deputy Marshal Saunders, for furious riding on Front street and for demeaning himself in a drunken and disorderly manner. He was amusing himself when arrested, by attempts to ride upon the bystanders.

An Indian who came down on the steamer, drunk, and was dumped upon the wharf like a dead hog, was picked up, subsequently, lying drunk on the street, and lodged in the city jail.

W. R. Hill, early Saturday evening became too boisterous under the influence of liquor and was arrested and taken to jail. He was disposed to be obstinate and the services of two or three officers were eventually required to get him along. The proceeding attracted as such things usually do, a large crowd who followed in procession to the jail. The several cases will be attended to this morning.

PRECIPICE ON THE BIBLE.—The discussion, advertised to take place at Oro Fino Hall, between Messrs Isaac Cox and C. W. Lawson, on the divine authenticity of the bible, will be opened this evening by Mr Cox The first question to be debated is stated as follows "Is the bible of divine authenticity, and entitled to the credibility of mankind?" Mr. Cox takes the affirmative and Mr. Lawson, the negative. After disposing of that, the disputants propose to discuss the question. "Do spirits of the dead return and communicate with their friends on earth, and is spiritualism worthy of the moral and religious confidence of mankind?" Mr. Lawson will affirm and Mr. Cox will deny An admission fee of 25 cents will be charged at the door. Apropos of this discussion, we learn that the disputation at Salem, between Rose Dr... and Todd on substantially the same questions, ended abruptly, Delazer retiring from the debate

MUSICAL AND EDUCATIONAL INSTITUTE.—We are pleased to learn that Prof. H. G. Grob has succeeded in making arrangements to open his Musical and Educational Institute within the next few days The school is to be conducted, as we understand it, upon the plan of a first class seminary, all the higher English branches, as well as several of the modern languages, being taught. Mr. Grob will have charge of the Musical Department, and Capt. J. P. C. Allesopp of the Academic Department. The latter brings high testimonials to his acquirements and efficiency. Prof. Grob's past success as a teacher of music, among us, recommends him sufficiently to all who know him Something like the proposed Institute has long been needed here, and, in common with very many friends of Prof. Grob, we give it our best wishes

OREGON CITY ITEMS.—The Enterprise has been enlarged by adding a column and making the columns correspondingly longer. The proprietor says not a word in explanation or by way of boast, and we only learn through private sources that the enlargement grew out of a pressure of business. We clip the following item from it Mr. C. E. Hurford of this city, will receive proposals until the 15th inst., for the printing for the Grand Lodge of F and A. M. of Oregon for one year from the 1st inst. Specimens of the blank ... laid lately opened in Clackamas county, ... Not long after our first notice of it, the President of the Oswego Iron Company sent to us for further particulars, obtained samples for testing its quality, and will probably contract for several hundred tons annually

RECORDER'S COURT.—On Saturday last, S P Reed and Adam Lane, the two persons who have lately figured conspicuously before the Portland public as informers in the match cases, were arrested on the charge of carrying concealed weapons Mr Walsh, one of the match manufacturers, was the complainant and testified that they had threatened to cut his throat if they should meet him outside the city. No weapons however, were found upon either of them when arrested; so, Reed was discharged after trial and the prosecution was abandoned as to Lane, there being no other evidence to be brought against him than that already before the court, in Reed's case.

MEETING OF THE FENIAN BROTHERHOOD.—A meeting of the Fenian Brotherhood will be held at the armory of the Fenian Guard, this evening, for the transaction of important business. A full attendance is desired

STARTLING APPEAR AMONG THE INDIANS.—Yesterday afternoon, a painted Indian whose name and home are unknown, but who has been for some time about this city, got into a row at a camp below town, and stabbed "Spokane Jim," with a large knife, inflicting five severe, though not necessarily mortal wounds. He was arrested and confined in the jail and will probably have an examination this morning "Spokane Jim" has the character of being a peaceable Indian

PETITION FOR A DISTRICT COURT ROOM.—The jurors in attendance upon this term of the U S District Court, having been for two weeks subjected to the inconvenience and discomforts of the room occupied by the court, unanimously signed a document on Saturday, addressed to Senators Williams and Corbett, asking them to use their influence to have more fitting rooms provided

BROOKLYN MILLS.—Dr Loryea informs us that the firm of Hawthorne & Loryea has purchased the Brooklyn Mills, near East Portland, and will soon remove the establishment to the bank of the Willamette river at the mouth of the creek on which it now stands They contemplate putting in considerable new machinery and intend to make it every way a first-class mill

General Sheridan and Governor Wells.

The following is the correspondence between General Sheridan and Gov. Wells, of Louisiana, and Wells and the President, in the case of the GOVERNOR'S removal:

HEADQUARTERS FIFTH MILITARY DISTRICT,
NEW ORLEANS, LA., June 7, 1867.

Mr J. Madison Wells, Ex-Governor of Louisiana, New Orleans, La.—Sir: General Flanders has just informed me that he made an official demand on you for the records of the office which you have heretofore held as Governor of Louisiana, and that you have declined to turn them over to him, disputing the right to remove from office by me, which right you have acknowledged and urged on me up to the time of your removal. I therefore send Brevet Brigadier General James W. Forsyth, of my staff, to notify you that he is sent by me to eject you from the Governor's Room forcibly, unless you consider the notification as equivalent to ejection.

P. H. SHERIDAN, Maj.-Gen. U. S. A.,
Commanding the Fifth Military District.

After reading this communication, Governor Wells answered it as follows:

General Forsyth—Sir: I surrender my office only to the sword.

Governor Flanders then took possession of the Governor's office, under General Sheridan's order.

General Grant has telegraphed to Gen. Sheridan that there is no truth in the rumors of his and Secretary Stanton's opposition to Wells, removal.

Wells has sent the following despatch and letter to the President, protesting against Gen. Sheridan's action:

STATE OF LOUISIANA, EXECUTIVE DEP'T,
NEW ORLEANS, June 4, 1867.

Telegram to His Excellency, Andrew Johnson, President of the United States—In advance of communication by mail, I respectfully and earnestly protest against the act of Gen. Sheridan in removing me from office, as a usurpation of power on his part, and to gratify a feeling of personal malice toward me, because I dared to appeal from his unauthorized and arbitrary exercise of power in appointing a Levee Board.

J. MADISON WELLS,
Governor of Louisiana.

STATE OF LOUISIANA, EXECUTIVE DEP'T,
New Orleans, June 4, 1867.

To his Excellency Andrew Johnson, President of the United States—Sir: The inclosed order from Gen. Sheridan, removing me from office, is most respectfully submitted for your consideration as to the question of his power to do so. As to the reason assigned by him for taking this step, viz., that I have impeded in the execution of the law of Congress, I enter a respectful but emphatic denial to the accusation. I am prepared to establish the truth of this assertion. It is evidently a mere pretext on the part of the General to give the color of cause for an act which originated in personal malice toward me because I dared defend myself against his personal attacks. Had the General stated that I was an "impediment" in the way to the gratification of his inordinate ambition to make himself a great man, he would have come nearer the truth than he did. His abuse of me personally, I do not condescend to notice. His eminent skill in that line is well known to this community. That he should so far degrade the office he holds as to make his official orders the vehicle of his malice may surprise you, but not me, who know his reckless habits.

It is not my purpose, however, in this communication to make your Excellency a personal party to the quarrel between Gen. Sheridan and myself. It is foreign to the question at issue, which is simply, if military commanders under the law of Congress have the right to remove civil officers under the Provisional Governments of the States established thereby, or, in other words, if they possess any power beyond those delegated in said Act and definitely expressed. Knowing that this question touching the general powers of the military commanders thereunder, particularly growing out of the frequent exercise of the removing power by Gen. Sheridan, is now under consideration by the Attorney General, I respectfully submit the case of my removal in connection therewith, as another instance of the illegal exercise of power by General Sheridan. Believing the importance of the question involved will call forth an early decision, I have the honor to be your obedient servant, J. MADISON WELLS;
Governor of the State of Louisiana.

PERFECTLY ENRAPTURING.—Such were our feelings as we stepped into the Music and Art Gallery of W. T. SHANAHAN, on First street, a few days since, and listened to the delightful tones and harmony which came from one of Mason & Hamlin's Cabinet Organs. From the soft breathing flute tones to the thundering bass of the pipe organ, all was equally free and sweet And why is it other makers cannot produce instruments like these? Mason & Hamlin were the first to introduce the Cabinet Organ, and have gained such a world wide notoriety that it requires the work of two large factories to supply the demand for these valuable instruments

CHOLERA.
MR. PERRY DAVIS—The benefits I have received from the use of your invaluable remedy, the Pain Killer, induces me to pen a word in its praise. Experience has convinced me that for Headache, Indigestion, Pain in the Stomach, or any other part of the system, severe Chills, Weariness, Colds, Hoarseness, CHOLERA, CHOLERA MORBUS, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Toothache, etc, THERE IS NOTHING BETTER THAN THE PAIN KILLER. I have this hour recovered from a severe attack of the Sick Headache, by taking two teaspoonful, taken at thirty minutes interval, in a wine glass full of hot water. I am confident, through the blessing of God, it saved me from the cholera in the summer of 1843. Travelling amid heat, dust, toil, change of diet, and constant exposure to an infected atmosphere, my system was daily predisposed to dysentery attacks, accompanied with pain, for which the Pain Killer was a sovereign remedy, one teaspoonful curing the worse case in an hour, or, at the most, half a day. I have heard of many cases of Dysentery being cured by its use. Put in the bottle, it will stop the toothache. Gratitude, and a desire for its general use, has drawn from me this unsolicited testimonial in its favor.

The "Life Saving Raft."

The New York correspondent of the Times, sends the following concerning the recently undertaken voyage across the Atlantic of the "Life saving raft Nonpareil

And now we have the wildest maddest prank of all—the departure from this port on Tuesday last of a raft—a veritable raft—with three men (Captain Mikes and two others) on board, on a voyage to Havre The World furnishes the announced history and description of the apparatus on which these men have risked their lives

"This life saving raft was invented and patented in 1867 by Edward L. Perry, who has taken out seven other patents, in this and other things In this country and who had previously invented such a raft which proved a failure In this sort of raft a trip was made to Long Branch when twenty men were landed in the surf from the Relief The Pacific Mail Steamship Company then commenced ordering them, and have taken some fifteen for their vessels Other lines have adopted them, (a duplicate of Captain Mikes') was placed on the Celestial Empire, yesterday, and tested on her trial trip In 1866, one was sent by the Persere to Havre for the French Transatlantic Company. Being exhibited at Paris, it was tried with forty five men by the French Admiral and taken possession of by the French Minister of Marine. An over price was paid for it, but the company here have been unable to ascertain its whereabouts Two of these rafts are now in charge of an agent at the Paris exposition On the 5th of October last Captain Mike was second officer on the Santiago de Cuba. She had been in distress for several days. That night he landed at Greytown twenty five soldiers, rations and accoutrements, in a tremendous sea, such as to preclude the landing of any ship's boats; that night he thought he would like to try a trip over the blue water on such a raft, for the last four months this has been his darling project, to which he has given all his time, has kept at least one man constantly employed and has made heavy personal sacrifices, he appealed to the raft company repeatedly, but in vain; they resolutely opposed it as a reckless scheme, his urgency finally won, when Perry, the inventor, who assisted him and yesterday presented him, individually, with the raft, fully equipped, so that he is sailing his own craft, if craft it may be called The raft, which has been partially described, consists of three 20 inch cylinders, 25 feet long, each having a double rubber casing, forming a thickness of three-eighths of an inch in thickness, over which a heavy canvas duck is tightly corded, to take the exhaustive strain These are connected by canvas webs and outer webs, stretching the whole to a light wooden frame surmounting the whole. The cylinders are inflated by means of two bellows, duplicates being carried in case of accident Upon the planking of the frame-work are steps for two masts, schooner rigged, with two shoremasts She carries five sails, a jib, fog sail, foregaffsail, mainsail and main gaffsail, has a centerboard starboard, and another to the larboard forward She carries an iron rudder, permanently iron rigged astern. She has what might be termed a poop locker (in appearance) a little forward and to the starboard of the center (to clear the centerboard), fourteen inches high, four feet wide by six long. This is the only place for stowing away and low berths. It is protected by a rubber blanket, with troughs and tubes for catching fresh water. She carries two compasses, two quadrants, ocean and English channel charts, oil stone, six rubber water-tanks of seven gallons, and six of ten gallons each, seven oars, and canned provisions, crackers, hams, fluids, etc., for forty days Such was the complement for the Nonpareil. After receiving a coating of beeswax upon her cylinder's calvas, she lay proudly at anchor off the Battery, between the emigrant landing and the bath house.

The hour fixed for the departure of the Nonpareil was two o'clock Tuesday. As she lay off the Battery she was visited by crowds of curious spectators, the Whitehall boatmen reaping a small harvest at twenty-five cents per head. A large crowd gathered on shore and in adjacent vessels to witness her departure. It was not, however, until five o'clock before the raft was ready to start. The World describes the scene:

Here the final adieus were exchanged. Captain Mikes leaned over the taffrail and gave wife and daughter the honest kiss with a lightsome good bye and sent off the boats cheerily. At 5 20 the little anchor was taken aboard and the Nonpareil was off, with the captain, his two men, an artist, J B Farnham, of No 1 Chamber street (the sketcher of the Harbor), and your reporter—these two outsiders, being, of course, temporary guests. The wind, which had been fairly here lulled to a dead calm and the assistance of a few skiffs was accepted to help us out. The water was dotted all about us with small craft of all kinds, who gave three cheers and a tiger for Captain Mikes and his brave fellows. The course will be across the banks to latitude 40 to 40 to clear the floating ice, then take a northwest course and fall in the track of the trade steamers. Captain Mikes counts upon making Havre in twenty-five to thirty days with fair wind he may make it in The raft did make fourteen knots in re Le Hoe's log in a gale, but that captain Mikes has missed numbers from men wishing to go with him, but he has seen and made a fine selection [illegible] first officer on sailing ships [illegible] Henry [illegible] upon Quartermaster [illegible] They are a "lay" [illegible] Mikes. Pack of the thirty leaves in [illegible] children in Brooklyn, and each man [illegible] navigator plain Mikes known in [illegible] Transatlantic Company, but [illegible] pass to sea trip. He intends going from Havre to Paris thence to Prussia (his native country) and to St Petersburg."

The President of the Life Saving Raft Company publishes a card in the Times, in which he disclaims any share or responsibility in Captain Mikes' undertaking. He repeats this with so much emphasis that the following postscript to his letter reads rather amusingly: "Although I have set my face against the adventure, I am of the opinion that the raft will cross in safety."

New Roads to Independence.

The New York Medical College for Women has recently graduated nine ladies as doctors The New England Medical College graduated five more lady physicians Beside these, we believe quite a number of female doctors are expected to graduate from a medical institution in Philadelphia At the commencement of the first-named institution, Prof Willis said that there were three hundred female practitioners in the country, some of whom were in the possession of practices worth from $10 000 to $20,000 a year. It is worthy of note that the average success of these female physicians is greater than that of the same number of young men who graduate from medical institutions. It is rarely the case that a female physician who enters the field thoroughly instructed, does not acquire a comfortable practice, and that without the long delays by which young men are doomed to suffer If there are many prejudices against the new class of practitioners, there are also strong predilections in its favor, so that no sooner does a clever woman make her appearance in the field, than patronage begins to come to her from quarters where she is specially qualified to administer relief There is no reason why a high minded woman, despising pretence and quackery, should not be the peer of men in particular departments of medical practice. The fact that she is a woman, is a help rather than a hindrance But, on the other hand, there are departments of medical practice where women never ought to aspire to successful competion with men For right minded women would care to be successful demonstrators of anatomy, or conspicuous as operative surgeons These three hundred female doctors have entered an open field where a thousand more might go and find profitable employment And the sooner some of the restless creatures who screech in falsetto tones at women's rights meetings, have their energies turned to some practical business the better They may not make the best class of physicians, but their remedial efforts would at least be turned into a more hopeful channel

And so in the broad domain of education, fame and fortune wait to crown every woman of ability who will consecrate herself even to the better education of her own sex The truth is the greater number of uneasy females who sit upon platforms at women's conventions, or who attract attention by some abbreviated style of dress, are sadly incompetent for these nobler walks of life They make up in a certain boldness and self assertion something which passes for smartness, and which aids them to cheap notoriety More thorough culture and discipline would have sent them on some better mission than the fruitless battle of the wind mills There never was a time when so many avenues to fame and independence were open to women as now What is needed is, less noisy, obstreperous self assertion and more consecration to practical work There are schools to be founded in the spirit of sacrifice, noble examples of faith and patience are wanting and less of the chattering of female magpies Moreover, the public is generously disposed toward every effort which woman make in the domain of letters or art A tolerable book, if written by a female is more certain of success than if written by the other sex Its sale is increased, curiosity is stimulated to find out what a woman has to say the public buy and read, even when much winnowing has to be done to find the grain The whole field of authorship is open—a field, whereon one woman (Mrs Stowe) has taken the highest prize ever won in this country as an author of fiction One single woman has attained renown as a sculptor, and our countrymen are ready to bow down in the idolatry of worship While one might look in vain for a picture of extraordinary merit contributed by a female to any art gallery in the land Yet every school of art is open to her, and space in every gallery is at her command We have too much babbling about woman's mission and her particular rights The world has come to be an open field, where the prizes waiting for women will be more satisfactory than the prattle and protests of platforms.—Bulletin

SALE OF ENGLISH MEN OF WAR—WOODEN SHIPS AT DISCOUNT.—The British Admiralty has determined to sell the old wooden vessels of its navy, and to build no more of that kind Hereafter England's "wooden walls" will be but a tradition of former glories The fight of the Merrimac and the Monitor was the beginning of a new era in naval warfare, and by slow and painful degrees the uselessness of teak and oak against iron plates and heavy shot has been made remarkably plain

The old vessels have been sold for a song, for the sum of $340,000 a single firm has bought a whole steam fleet, consisting of the ships of the line Colossus, Collingwood Orion and Conqueror, and the frigates Impregnable, Largaitia, Termagant, Argyll, Chesapeake and Leander There, in their time, were first class ships each costing more than the sum paid for the whole ten, but John Bull is evidently glad to get rid of them at any price, for the Times observes: "Let them go, and let us waste no unavailing regrets over them The Times is, nevertheless, afraid that the Government is not pursuing a right and safe course, for while selling wooden ships as not fit for the defense of the country, it is, nevertheless, building and commissioning them for the protection of its colonies in Asia, the very portions of its dominions most liable to be assailed, where a hostile iron clad would do at short notice immense and irreparable damage

The French Government has no more faith in wooden ships than the English, but is substituting an iron clad fleet in place of its old hulks much faster.

There are now in commission in its navy seven iron-clad frigates, three carrying 34 guns, one 28 and three 14 guns. These are first rate vessels of between 800 and 900 horse power France has besides in commission, two armor plated vessels of 900 horse power, carrying 52 guns each She is fitting out four iron plated frigates of from 800 to 900 horse power, and has two similar vessels dismantled. She is building four iron plated frigates, each of 950 horse power, carrying 12 guns, and with a complement of 750 men, and seven armor plated corvettes of 450 horse power, carrying 3 guns and 300 men each, besides four armor-plated coast guard vessels of 530 horse power and 2 guns each, and she has afloat sixteen floating batteries, with horse power varying from 150 to 120, and a number of guns between 16 and 9.

MONTANA AS A MINERAL COUNTRY.—David H Cochran, a geologist from the East, of considerable reputation, who has been passing some time in Montana, writes, June 29th, as follows

The country is rich in the precious metals, but the rocks are so heaved and tossed about that it is very difficult to follow a vein, and besides the rocks being a feldspathic granite, rapidly decomposing and wash down into crevices and valleys and form rich but narrow and deceptive veins of infiltration and rich gulch diggings. These narrow veins of infiltration and broken veins are sources of great vexation and waste of money. There are no well developed quartz lodes in the Territory as yet
